Eban Attacks U.N. Assembly Debate Legality

Believes Mideast Issue Not Proper Subject For Action

UNITED NATION, N. Y. (AP)—Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban is questioning the right of the U.N. General Assembly to discuss the Middle East while the issue is before the Security Council.

He raised the question at a news conference Monday, minutes after Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad made the opening speech in the assembly debate. Eban said that in his address to the 127-nation assembly today he would "not take the defensive" but would make new charges.

Riad accused Israel and the United States of collaborating in a policy of deceit and aggression that has blocked peace in the Middle East.

The Israeli foreign minister called Riad's speech "a violent and dishonorable tirade."

Eban said it is well known that Egypt is shoveling in more arms and equipment, "probably even as we are talking now."

He told the newsmen that assembly debate on the Middle East at this stage might be a violation of the U.N. charter. He added that he would pound out delegation chiefs on what he described as this "dangerous situation."

Eban said as he arrived in New York Sunday that he had not come "in a defensive mood."

The roadblock to negotiations, he charged, was Soviet and Egyptian "violation of the cease-fire standstill."

The chief of Israeli military intelligence, Gen. Aharon Yariv, told a news conference in Tel Aviv that Egypt and the Soviet Union have set up one of the most advanced missile systems in the world in the Suez Canal zone. He estimated that 500 to 600 missiles have been deployed in the zone.

Israel has been boycotting U.N. mediated peace negotiations, charging that Egypt violated the cease-fire by setting up the missile sites.

Eban said the best way to renew the tasks would be to restore the situation as it was on Aug. 8, when the 90-day stand-down went into effect in the canal zone. He indicated that Israel would like to see the cease-fire extended.

Soviets Not Likely To Free 2 U.S. Generals Quickly

Nixon Resumes Campaign Swing

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon is resuming his energetic off-year election campaigning after clearing the way for a heads-I-win-tails-you-lose verdict from the voter on Nov. 3.

Well in advance of Nixon's departure for Republican rallies tonight in the Florida resort cities of Palm Beach and Miami Beach, press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler spelled out for the first time the chief executive's precise campaign goal:

"To see how closely we can tighten the gap of tradition." Those 11 words could mean Nixon is lowering his election-day sights and has abandoned hope of a Republican surge next Tuesday. Or they could signal a White House effort to set the stage for post-election claims of a triumphal Nixon intervention if GOP candidates make only a respectable showing.

Ziegler stated Monday that, traditionally, the president's party loses about 30 House seats in off-year balloting and "doesn't fare well in the Senate."

He noted, as has Nixon in some campaign speeches, that 120 years have passed since another president, Zachary Taylor, entered the White House—as did Nixon—to face a Congress controlled by the opposition party.

Ziegler's message was clear: Nixon is fighting uphill because all presidents elected from Taylor to Nixon went into off-year elections with the benefit of congressional majorities. Thus, it would seem, the White House will be prepared to speak well of Nixon's efforts on the stump no matter what happens.

At the same time, Republican hopes of gaining control of the Senate have faded in recent weeks.

Yet Nixon doggedly continues his campaign for Republican candidates of his choosing, whether they are frontrunners or underdogs. And when he doesn't care to identify with GOP candidates, he stays away

Tass Blast Dims Hopes For Release

MOSCOW (AP)—U.S. consuls who visited the two American generals whose plane crossed the Soviet-Turkish border reported today that they, their pilot and the Turkish officer with them are in "good health."

The U.S. Embassy gave no other information on the visit Monday by the two consuls to Maj. Gen. Edward C.D. Scherrer, chief of the U.S. military mission in Turkey, and Brig. Gen. Claude McQuarrie Jr. But it said the consuls expected to see them again today in Leningrad where their small plane landed six days ago just inside Soviet Armenia and some 1,200 miles south of Moscow.

The U.S. government said the violation of Soviet air space was "clearly accidental," due to bad weather, and asked for the speedy release of the four men and the plane. But a blast in Tass gave no indication that the Kremlin was preparing to let them go.

The Soviet news agency said the Foreign Ministry presented notes to the governments of the United States and Turkey strongly protesting the "unlawful intrusion" of Soviet territory. The notes said the intrusion was "not a chance violation of Soviet air space" but was a "direct result of the general military activity of the United States in areas adjoining the Soviet Union."

"In the last three years alone there were more than 10 unlawful violations of the Soviet Union's air space, and appropriate representations were made in connection with them to the American side," the note to Washington said.

"Every time the American side tried to present things in such a way as though the violations were the result of a chance concurrence of circumstances. But it is quite legitimate to ask why do American military planes appear near Soviet frontiers and whether this is accidental? The answer should be looked for in the extensive military and intelligence activities which the United States has been carrying out for many years in direct proximity to the Soviet Union."

"More than that," the statement added, "attention should also be drawn to the recent considerable increase in the activity of the U.S. Air Force and Navy in the area directly adjoining the southern borders of the Soviet Union."

The other note accused the Ankara government of allowing U.S. planes to operate from Turkish bases "for reconnaissance and other hostile actions directed against the Soviet Union and countries of the Middle East."

"Suffice it to recall the flight of the American U2 spy plane which was a rude violation of norms of international law and was condemned by the entire world public."

This was a reference to the shooting down of Francis Gary Powers' spy plane 10 years ago. Powers served two years in Soviet prisons.

The two generals were touring Turkish bases in eastern Turkey. Their pilot is Maj. James P. Russell.

D.C. Policemen Are Wounded

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two District of Columbia policemen were wounded by blasts from a shotgun early today in what a police spokesman said was a "completely unprovoked" act.

The pair, Donald W. Ramsey, 22, and Ralph Gilmore, 23, were struck by pellets fired from a car as they patrolled in southeast Washington. A car pulled up next to the officers and three blasts were fired the spokesman said.

Gilmore fired twice at the car as it sped off, but it was not known whether the car was hit. Both patrolmen were treated for minor leg wounds and released from Washington Hospital Center.

Suspect Denies 5 Murders

Public Defender Gives Interview

SANTA CRUZ, Calif. (AP)—The bearded young man accused of murdering five persons at a luxurious hilltop mansion denies doing it, public defender James Jackson says.

Jackson, court-appointed to defend John Linley Frazier, said at a news conference Monday his client has told him he did not kill the victims and didn't know them.

Frazier, 24, was arrested last Friday as he slept in a dilapidated cove where he lived—less than a half mile from the mansion where four days earlier five people were found shot dead and thrown into a swimming pool.

The victims were Dr. Victor Ohta, 45, his wife, Virginia, 43, their sons Derrick, 12, and Taggart, 11, and his secretary, Dorothy Cadwallader 38.

Jackson said Frazier's actions "are not like those of a normal person... He does not understand the gas chamber. And he does not know right from wrong."

The attorney said Frazier's personality "changed radically" after an auto accident last May in which he suffered a head injury.

One person described as a close friend, told a newsmen that Frazier was "a fairly straight family-oriented sort of a guy" until about May, when he quit his job as an auto mechanic and "turned almost overnight into another wired-up hippie."

He separated from his wife of four years a short time later.

Jackson said he had no immediate plans to change Frazier's "not guilty" plea to a plea of insanity because he feels the evidence is all circumstantial.

But Jackson said David Marlow, former chief of the University of California psychology department on the Santa Cruz campus, had talked to Frazier four times and "is expected to testify that Frazier is not mentally competent."

Petitions Support Ohio National Guard

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Petitions bearing the names of Ohioans supporting the Ohio National Guard's action at Kent State last May were presented Monday to an aide of Gov. James A. Rhodes.

The American Independent Party Candidate Edwin Lawton, who presented them to Thomas Moyer, said the number of signers was "over 1,000."

John King, 37, of McConellsville, who obtained the signatures on a trip from Kent State to Columbus, claimed the petitions contained more than 100,000 signatures.

President Signs Drug Bill; Aimed At Source, Pushers

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon today signed a drug bill aimed at drug and narcotics pushers, asking public support for an all-out fight against drug use by young people.

Enforcement tools provided by the new law, plus the support of all citizens, may "save the lives of thousands of young people who might otherwise be hooked on drugs," Nixon said.

"In order for the laws to mean anything they must have the support of the public," he said.

The drug bill eases somewhat the penalties for narcotics and drug users, stiffens penalties for professional drug traffickers and extends federal controls over previously unregulated drugs.

Nixon, addressing himself to "all of you who may be seeing this signing ceremony or hearing it," said drug use among people is a major national crisis.

The ceremony took place at the downtown Washington headquarters of the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs.

The new law de-emphasizes punishment of drug users in favor of educational programs aimed at preventing a person from taking up the habit. It reduces the crime of possessing Montreal Mayor Thinks Kidnaps Will Spread To U.S.

MONTREAL (AP)—The mayor of Montreal, who says he is marked for assassination, thinks that if political kidnapping is allowed to continue in Quebec Province, it will spread to the United States.

"If we were to let them continue kidnapping our diplomats and members of government," said Mayor Jean Drapeau in an interview, "you can rest assured that those who have illegal purposes in the United States would do it."

"Someone hearing about what has happened here will start doing it."

Asked whether he or his police know of any ties between the terrorists of the Quebec Liberation Front—the FLQ—and radical or terrorist groups in the United States or elsewhere, Drapeau said: "My opinion is that these groups are full of men who do a lot of traveling. And they don't travel to Rome to see the Pope."

As two bodyguards stood nearby, Drapeau said the FLQ has prepared a list of government figures and others it wants assassinated in an attempt at revolution. "My name is on it," said the mayor, who was re-elected in a landslide vote Sunday.

The FLQ kidnapped British Trade Commissioner James Cross on Oct. 5 and Quebec Labor Minister Pierre Laporte five days later. The terrorists murdered Laporte on Oct. 17 after the government refused to free 23 FLQ members serving prison terms or awaiting trial.

Cross' wife emerged from seclusion Monday night to broadcast a message to her husband and his kidnappers over a local French-language station. She said she was confident Cross is alive and well, and she pleaded with the kidnappers to release him without delay. She said her experience was "agonizing." Drapeau said it is possible for "a small group of determined men and women to take over a government because when people are scared, or people are in different, or people are afraid, they accept as a matter of fact a new government."

Dynamite, Pipe Bombs Are Found

DETROIT (AP)—Police say 25 sticks of dynamite and two "pipe bombs" have been found hidden in a black militant headquarters near where a policeman was shot to death.

The dynamite was discovered Monday wrapped in tinfoil in a box on a basement floor, police said.

Fifteen black youths were arrested when they surrendered at the building headquarters of the National Committee to Combat Fascism—NCCF—early Sunday after a nine-hour standoff with police.

NCCF is an organizing arm of the Black Panther party.

The 15 were charged with murder and conspiracy to murder Patrolman Glenn Smith, 26, whose death Saturday night brought 100 to 200 police officers to the area.

The shooting of Smith and the wounding of Patrolman Marshall Emerson Jr. occurred shortly after police arrested two youths who were selling Black Panther literature two blocks from the NCCF headquarters.

Police said the two were harassing pedestrians.

WCH City Manager Dies Fighting Fire

WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE, Ohio (AP)—A three-alarm fire at the Union Oil Products bulk storage plant here Monday night led indirectly to the death of City Manager Clarence A. Christman.

Christman, 44, died from a heart attack while investigating the fire which erupted about 7:20 p.m. A hospital spokesman said that Christman had a history of heart disorders.

Maynard Denen, assistant fire chief, said the fire was extinguished about 9:15 p.m. He said an estimate of damages to five storage tanks involved in the blaze was not complete.

Denen said the fire apparently started when drifting fumes from spillage of an estimated 2,000 gallons of gasoline were ignited.

The spillage occurred from a tank truck which was in the process of filling one of the tanks.

Three tanks contained gasoline, one contained kerosene and the other held furnace fuel oil.

The new door recently installed on the fire department had a defect which the firemen were busy fixing today... The old doors had a special "kiddle window" on a lower level for little tots to peer through... The new unit didn't... Youngsters can be assured after this morning of a clear view of the firefighting equipment with the two new windows being placed today.

Chief Radiologist May Get State Post

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The chief radiologist at the University of Cincinnati's College of Medicine is expected to be named to the Ohio Board of Regents.

John McElroy, chief aide to the governor, said Dr. Charles Barrett will be appointed as soon as the necessary papers are signed by Gov. James A. Rhodes. Barrett will replace William H. Zimmer, who resigned.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Leading contenders for governor and the U.S. Senate are in the final week of the campaign before the Nov. 3 election with a blitz in major cities aimed at shaking apathy and swinging the undecided voter.

The undecided vote, listed as high as 26 per cent, is the chief target of candidates trailing in the polls.

Although political professionals say the undecided vote usually splits proportionally among winners and losers, it is an unknown segment that keeps victory dreams alive in the last week.

All the metropolitan areas of the state, but chiefly northeastern Ohio, will get the most attention. The candidates will travel by helicopter, plane, bus and automobile.

Accompanying their travels will be saturation radio and television advertising.

The chief contenders for governor are Democrat John J. Gilligan and Republican State Auditor Roger Cloud. Seeking a seat in the U.S. Senate are Republican Rep. Robert Taft Jr., and Democrat Howard M. Metzbaum.

Gilligan, leading in all the polls, plans to help boost the candidacies of some Democratic legislative candidates,

Mark Shields, his campaign manager, said there will be no let-up in the fast pace already established. Gilligan will hit hard at the state loan scandals and "the need to restore confidence in state government."

"While the polls are encouraging," Gilligan said, "the ultimate polls will be on Nov. 3... I am hopeful the people of Ohio will respond favorably to the campaign we have attempted to wage and the issues we have attempted to raise."

"We are not in any way letting up or easing up," Shields said. "He'll be on the go. Everybody on the staff will be on the go."

Cloud, blitzing the state by plane, continues to lash at Gilligan as an advocate of a state income tax. He will campaign through Monday.

"I feel confident that people of Ohio, when they get into the voting booth and think about the choice between the two men will vote for me," Cloud said.

A Cloud aide, James Duerk, said the staff feels the attack on Gilligan as a man who "advocates $1 billion in new taxes is working."

Duerk said he thought it could help swing the undecided vote to Cloud's side.

Taft will rely on well-known names from Washington to help

Single Fatality Raises Traffic Toll

A Commercial Point man became the county's eighteenth traffic victim early this morning.

Robert Lee O'Conner was added to the traffic death toll for Pickaway County following a single vehicle crash at midnight.

The 36-year-old man was headed west on Route 316 at an apparent high rate of speed when he lost control of his vehicle and went off the roadway. When he tried to regain the roadway, his 1958 model truck flipped over, rolling several times before striking a utility pole about a half mile west of Route 23.

The impact with the pole tossed O'Conner out of the truck and into a ditch.

He was taken to Mercy Hospital in Columbus where he died, apparently of head injuries.

His widow, Esther E. Davis O'Conner and a daughter, Lori Lee, survive. He is also survived by a brother, Kenneth, of Grove City.

O'Conner was a member of the Commercial Point Men's Club.

His services will be 1 p.m. Thursday at the Shoedinger-Norris Funeral Chapel, 3574 N. Broadway in Grove City with Rev. Carl Wetherell officiating. Burial will be in Beckett Funeral Home, Commercial Point.

Friends may call at the funeral home beginning 1 p.m. Wednesday.

One solution: blend 12 parts broken glass, six parts stone dust, one part asphalt and a half part lime, producing the new surfacing for roads.

Researchers said glassphalt passed all significant tests before being tried here, although they will watch the street carefully to make certain jagged edges do not result which could puncture tires.

Since last spring, the Glass Container Manufacturers Institute has been paying half-a-cent a bottle for used glass at eight recycling centers in the Los Angeles area.

The volume has reached a million bottles a day. Most of the glass is melted down to make new containers. But about 300 tons of reclaimed, crushed glass went into the three-inch thick paving on the new Raymer Avenue here.

Developers of the industrial park where the street was laid gave the city a five-year guarantee the road would be satisfactory.

Glasphalt Pavement Laid Down

FULLERTON, Calif. (AP)—More than a million used glass bottles and jars collected by Southern Californians have gone into the nation's first city street of glassphalt, a new paving material.

The 600-foot-long street, in an industrial area, is a result of federally sponsored research begun three years ago at the University of Missouri.

The problem: how to do something useful with waste glass and thus reduce America's mammoth trash problem.

One solution: blend 12 parts broken glass, six parts stone dust, one part asphalt and a half part lime, producing the new surfacing for roads.

First Step Taken To Secure Detention Facility Funds

Pickaway County Commissioners Dick T. Toohey, Wayne Hines and Charles Morris Monday signed a declaration of intent to establish a 7-county juvenile detention facility.

The declaration of intent is the first step in securing federal funds for a survey of the proposed juvenile detention region.

Pickaway County Commissioners, on the recommendation and advice of Juvenile Judge Guy Cline, initiated a meeting with the commissioners of Ross, Jackson, Hocking, Vinton, Pike and Fayette County to discuss the formation of the region to build a juvenile detention center.

Commissioners of the other counties are to sign similar declarations of intent. Meetings discussing the detention facility have been held in Chillicothe.

IN other action Monday, Commissioners established the price or 1971 dog tags at $3 per single tag and $15 for kennel license.

feels federal officials hope will be given the same respectful response as the 1964 surgeon general's report statistically linking cigarettes and lung cancer.

Until that report is in, one year from now, the Nixon administration remains, in the words of Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, "diametrically opposed" to any relaxation of laws prohibiting possession and use of marijuana.

The same study commission is required to present within two years a report on causes of drug abuse.

Possession of marijuana, previously a felony under federal law, is reduced to a misdemeanor. Judges are empowered to grant probation, parole or dismissal of charges in cases involving first offenders.

Casual distribution of marijuana, as typified by passing a reefer among friends, is considered a misdemeanor. All changes in penalties take effect six months hence.

Education, treatment and rehabilitation programs for drug and narcotics users are given an extra $26 million under the new law.

The measure brings under strict federal control the previously unregulated distribution of tranquilizers, pen pills, sleeping pills and similar drugs.

Independents as well as Republicans that they share my concern for the need to enact positive legislation to meet America's needs," he said.

A Taft aide, Lou Rotterman, said Ohioans "are beginning to discern that the opponent is a slick, prepackaged version of a friendly grandfather and that he is attempting to be many things to many people on all issues."

Metzenbaum's staff views the race as "hip and tuck, right down to the wire." Metzenbaum will concentrate on boosting his margin in northeastern Ohio to offset Taft's expected Hamilton County (Cincinnati) edge.

Metzenbaum, however, is not writing off the downstate vote. He estimated he has traveled over 50,000 miles during the campaign and hit 74 of the state's 88 counties.

Television advertising in the final week will not be as heavy for Metzenbaum as it will be for Taft, a Metzenbaum aide said.

The two candidates signed an agreement to limit television advertising. Metzenbaum used a good bit of his allotment early while Taft held off for the final weeks, the Metzenbaum aide said.

"It is my feeling that on election day the voters of Ohio will say they want an independent Democratic voice in the U.S. Senate, one that will address itself directly to problems such as unemployment, prices and crime," Metzenbaum said.

More Charges Filed Against Cycle Club

Additional charges have been filed against seven of the members of the motorcycle club involved in a dispute Saturday with James Zimmerman, operator of a northend filling station.

Zimmerman lodged charges of second degree rioting against Clarence William Fenneken, Gary Leon West, Lola Eileen Hall, Bobby Lee Marcum, Harvey Fenderson, Ronald Edwin Hall and Paul David Wyrick, all of Columbus.

Monday Zimmerman filed charges of making menacing threats against Fenneken, Fenderson, Marcum, West, Ronald Hall, Charles Guidry and Wyrick.

Seven of the eight were released on $500 bond while Fenneken was held for Military authorities who wanted him for desertion.

Police reported the motorcycle club members had been visiting the Pumpkin Show. The alleged altercations for which they have been cited into court occurred at Zimmerman's service station as they were leaving Circleville.

A road block was set up by the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department at Route 23 and County Road 511 where the accused were captured. Hearings on the charges of making menacing threats have been scheduled Nov. 5.

John A. Shaw, 30, Williamsport, was sentenced to 30 days in the county jail and fined a total of $250 by Municipal Court Judge Sterling Lamb Monday.

Shaw was cited into court by Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff Earl Kuhn for eluding a police officer, resisting arrest and abusing and calling an officer obscene names. He pleaded no contest to the charges.

Kenneth A. Converse, 34, Lancaster, was charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of intoxicants. He was fined $200 and costs, sentenced to three days in the county jail and had his driving rights suspended for six months.

Jeffrey Lee Writsel, 20, Route 1, Orient, forfeited a $24 bond for speeding 65 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

Thomas O. Musselman, 38, Route 1, Orient, was fined $15 and costs for parking on the highway.

Eugene Kasler, Route 2, was fined $25 and costs for public intoxication.

—as he has in New York, Montana, Washington and Virginia, each with either a seemingly unbeatable Democrat in the saddle or a friendly and apt-to-succeed third-party candidate or independent in the running against GOP opposition.

By White House accounting, Nixon will have campaigned in 21 states by election day. He will not return to the White House until after the balloting.

Because some writers have called this unprecedented, the administration has assumed a defensive posture. Ziegler declared that the late President John F. Kennedy had campaigned in 11 states and 24 cities in 1962 before his endeavors were derailed by the explosive Cuban missile crisis in late October of that year.

Nixon spent most of Monday entertaining Romania's President Nicolae Ceausescu, telling the Communist leader the United States recognizes the right of each nation "to be independent, to have its own policy without foreign domination."

Nixon noted Romania is one of the few countries enjoying good relations with the United States, the Soviet Union and Communist China.

Three Injured In Route 23 Accidents

The intersection of Route 23 and Route 762 was the scene of two separate auto accidents early Tuesday morning.

Gary L. Marion, 29, Route 1, was struck by a car driven by 7:15 a.m. and attempting to make a right turn onto Route 762 when the rear of his vehicle was struck by a car driven by Carl Donald Lewis, 29, Westerville.

Marion received a hip injury and Lewis a lacerated nose and chest injury. Both were treated at Berger Hospital.

Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff Don Thompson cited Lewis for no operator's license and failure to maintain assured clear distance ahead.

Cheryl D. Kent, 19, of Chillicothe, suffered a bruised shoulder at 7:48 a.m. when she was traveling north on 23 and applied the brakes to avoid cars ahead of her.

Her auto skidded into the median strip injuring her and damaging the cars undercarriage. She was referred to the doctor by Deputy John Bost.

Revoke Awards To Army General

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Army announced tonight it is stripping a brigadier general of two honors, including the nation's third highest award for valor, because they were based on fabricated citations.

An announcement from Army headquarters said, however, that the investigation has so far shown conclusively that the general, Eugene P. Forrester, was not aware of the fabrication.

It was the first known time in Vietnam that the Army had revoked such awards from a general officer.

Stock List On Downside

NEW YORK (AP) — Market prices continued to ebb in slow trading today as investors took to the sidelines and the news front remaining unsimulating.

At noon the Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks sank 1.91 points to 754.52.

Declines led advances on the New York Stock Exchange by almost 2 to 1.

Analysts said the factors governing market performance in recent sessions had remained pretty much the same.

At noon The Associated Press 60-stock average was off .9 at 256.6, with industrials off 1.4, rails off .7, and utilities unchanged.

Airlines, oils, steels, mail order-retail and electronics were mixed. All other stock categories were off.

Big Board prices included Memorex, off 1 at 81 1/4; Amerada Hess, up 1 at 46 1/4; Amerada Hess preferred, up 3 at 101 1/4; Telex, off 1/4, at 21; Scott, up at 23 1/4; and St. Regis Paper, off at 34 1/4.

Canadians OK Bill To Control Big Oil Tankers

OTTAWA (AP) — The House of Commons gave approval in principle Monday to a bill giving the government sweeping powers to control oil tankers in Canadian waters. Transport Minister Don Jamieson conceded there was a general feeling the measure does not go far enough, but said he did not see how it could be made any stronger.

"We have gone further unilaterally in this particular area than any other country on the face of the earth," he said after five hours of debate. "What we have done is to stretch our jurisdiction to the absolute maximum."

The bill amending the Canada Shipping Act imposes pollution controls on all tankers entering Canadian fishing zones. It extends the government's jurisdiction beyond the limits of territorial waters but not ready so far as the 100-mile limit set by legislation last spring for the Canadian Arctic.

Jamieson said that if federal jurisdiction were extended too far out into the Atlantic and Pacific, "it would be tremendously difficult for us to try to investigate which vessels, among the enormous amount of shipping in that region, were heading for Canadian ports."

"Religion Makes People Intolerant And Snobbish"

Undoubtedly there are some religious people who are intolerant . . . but they're a minority, and their intolerance proves that they've missed the true message of the church.

Religion stresses love, charity, and brotherhood, and surely this implies tolerance of all human beings.

Far from being a meeting place for snobs, your church is a place where you can be together with fellow believers, united in the strength of your faith.

NEW YORK (AP) — In the course of changing channels and being chopped to a half hour over the summer, something has happened to "The Red Skelton Show," and the something isn't good.

The program now leads off NBC's Monday night schedule. Instead of being a variety hour with Skelton's unique brand of comedy as the principal ingredient, it is now practically all Skelton. That should be great, but he is being given some dreadful material.

This week's outing started with Skelton using his pie-pan-tomime skills in a silly Jekyll and Hyde solo consisting mostly of making funny faces. A dreadful sketch followed, with guest star Van Johnson opening by reading his off-camera cue cards. The comedy consisted entirely of a fat lady breaking furniture every time she sat down. Then there was a silent spot featuring monsters in some sort of Halloween context.

Perhaps the level of the show has dropped because of some theory that Skelton, in an earlier time period, has picked up a children's audience. Maybe, the well of inspiration has run dry. At any rate, the new Red Skelton show is nothing like the old one. On CBS, Red's program rarely was out of Nielsen's top 10; this season it has dropped to the middle of a list of 80 shows. It should not be forgotten, however, that the comedian has picked up some tough competition—"Gunsmoke."

The Skelton show was not alone in celebrating Halloween Monday night: "Laugh-In" devoted most of its hour to jokes, gags, and blackouts involving caskets, ghouls, vampires and skeletons.

The program has seemed to lack sparkle this season, but the Monday night program appeared to be back in its breakneck form with some funny gags. There were, unhappily, a lot of rather gruesome and tasteless ones, too. "Laugh-In" is still getting passing grades in the Nielsen but has been out of the top 10 most of this season. In the most recent list it was 17th, between "Hawaii Five O" and "The Carol Burnett Show."

ABC's Marcus Welby, M.D., remained the most popular program during the week of Oct. 12, and NBC's "Flip Wilson Show" climbed into second place. ABC's "F.B.I." was third, followed by NBC's "Ironside" and CBS's "Here's Lucy."

Among the established programs which seem to have run into competitive problems are "The Lawrence Welk Show," "The Ed Sullivan Show" and "The Andy Williams Show." All are far down on the Nielsen list.

OU Student Is Dismissed; Fired Air Gun

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—Richard K. Letsinger, accused of firing an air gun at a fellow Ohio University student in a non-riot related incident, was the first person dismissed from a state school Monday under Ohio's new campus anti-riot law.

Under the law, Letsinger, 18, of Bloomington, Ind., cannot be admitted to any state supported university in Ohio for at least a year. After one year he can be readmitted with approval of the board of trustees of the school.

Long March Held To Fight Hunger

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—A spokesman for the American Freedom from Hunger Association said that about 90 per cent of more than 10,000 marchers completed a 25-mile walk in Cleveland Sunday, raising an estimated $75,000 to $100,000.

The money is to be used to help feed the needy in Cleveland and in Ghana and Mexico. Each walker was supported by one or more sponsor who pledged to pay a specified amount of money for each mile walked.

He was dismissed following a 15-minute hearing before Board of Regents referee Edwin Johnson of Logan.

The Oct. 16 incident, in which no one was seriously injured, illustrates what OU President Claude Sowle calls the "far reaching" implications of the bill.

The legislation, under criticism at most campuses, has come under particular fire from Sowle, who says he considers it too broad.

Sowle, prior to the referee's findings, had noted the incident had nothing to do with any campus disruption of the type the legislation was intended to curb.

Letsinger admitted firing the pellet gun out a window and striking another student he did not know who was riding a bicycle.

The new campus anti-riot act, which went into effect Sept. 15, provides that a student or faculty member charged with a crime, must have a hearing before a referee. The referee decides whether or not the person remains on campus pending court action.

Letsinger pleaded guilty earlier Monday in Athens Municipal Court to assault and battery. He was fined $100 and costs.

Court Rules On 2 Cases

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Supreme Court issued rulings Monday in cases involving a proposed zoning ordinance amendment in Clermont County and municipal income tax ordinance in Miami County.

The court cleared the way for Union Township voters in Clermont County to decide Nov. 3 on a proposed ordinance amendment.

The high court said the writ of prohibition sought by Horace C. Flannery is valid only where a board of officers is about to unlawfully exercise judicial power. The court said that was not the case because a lower court had decided the matter.

An effort by a resident of West Milton, Miami County, to put a municipal income tax ordinance passed March 5 on the Nov. 3 ballot was overruled by the court.

Millett Praises Kent President

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—Kent State University President Robert I. White, whose administration was strongly criticized by the special state grand jury investigating last May's disorders on the campus, was praised Sunday by Dr. John D. Millett, Chancellor of the Ohio Board of Regents.

Millett, speaking at the dedication of Kent State's new $3.8 million Trumbull branch building, praised White for his "persistent endeavor to guide the university community to a responsible exercise of academic freedom."

The grand jury said the "major responsibility" for last May's disorders rested with the administration, that the administration had "fostered an attitude of laxity, over-indulgence and permissiveness with its students and faculty" and that the administrative staff has yielded to demands to such an extent that "it no longer runs the university."

Senatorial Discretion

Even the wildest of females would have to concede a certain admiration for the devious manner by which members of the United States Senate killed off the women's equal rights amendment, while still appearing in the record as favoring it.

Last August, after the House voted 352 to 10 in favor of the constitutional revision requiring equality of rights between the sexes, swift approval by the Senate seemed a foregone conclusion.

Eighty of the 100 senators were co-sponsors of the measure, and only Sen. Sam J. Ervin of North Carolina was courageous enough to raise his voice against it.

Mr. Ervin's lonely protests, and those of a few other objectors, did not go unheeded, however. The Senate is still lined up in favor, but the women's rights amendment is apparently consigned to the shelf. This was accomplished by tacking on a series of riders, including one nullifying the Supreme Court's ban in school prayers, which will send the measure to the Senate-House conference committee.

There, the entire matter is likely to be buried in the crush of last-minute business in the lame-duck session of Congress.

The Senate may have been less than courageous when it avoided a forthright rejection of the measure, thereby dodging its supporters' vengeful wrath. But at least it displayed good sense.

In Custody

The precision with which Angela Davis and her companion were taken into custody — without injury to anyone and devoid of the slightest commotion in teeming mid-Manhattan — is a tribute to the skill of federal agents.

They performed in the highest traditions of their service. For it, they merit both commendation and the nation's gratitude.

Miss Davis was a fugitive. She vanished when named as a suspect in connection with the commission of ruthless acts of kidnaping and murder. When apprehended, she was found to have altered her appearance considerably.

Every effort will be made to give her a fair trial. But this will not dissuade her defenders from demanding clemency and her release — no matter at what risk to the nation.

Lucky Ones

Taxpayers everywhere can be excused if they envy their counterparts in Nebraska this year. That state appears to be the only one in the process of cutting major state taxes, in this case nearly 25 per cent.

As usual, the politicians are not happy at the prospect. The ins are claiming good management made the tax cut possible, the outs claim the surplus was rigged when tax rates were set last year.

Why don't they both just admit they are sore losers?

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — The Uruguayans may have something to offer the world about resolving differences in economic viewpoints that so often involve a nation's best brain in wasteful arguments that never end.

At least it would seem so, judging by the way last week they came right to the point so to speak, about the merits and deficiencies of the nation's program to cut inflation, which had been as high as 100 per cent a year.

For the moment, let it be said that their point of view showed acute recognition of the futility of further, endless debate, and that they may have supplied a lesson for all nations, the United States especially.

The background: Economists always disagree. If there is anything that is common to that tribe no matter what their politics it is their capacity to view events differently.

Given the same set of ingredients, 100 economists would bake 100 different cakes. If, by freakish circumstance, they baked 100 identical cakes they would label them differently. And, some critics maintain, most of them would be half-baked anyway.

Economic debate is no different in Uruguay than it is in the United States. It appears but the solution is much more conclusive. Uruguayans come to the point, quite decisively. And how? By the sword.

Last week, President Jorge Pacheco Areco, who is on an anti-inflation kick like most other presidents around the world, announced additional measures that included a reduction in government expenses.

This angered Sen. Manuel Flores Mora, whose ideas on economic policy differ sharply. A duel was proposed with the minister of industry and commerce, a fellow by the name of Sanguinetti, whose job is similar to that of Commerce Secretary Maurice Stans, brought honor to the administration and defended its policies by cutting Flores Mora on the arm with the tip of his sword.

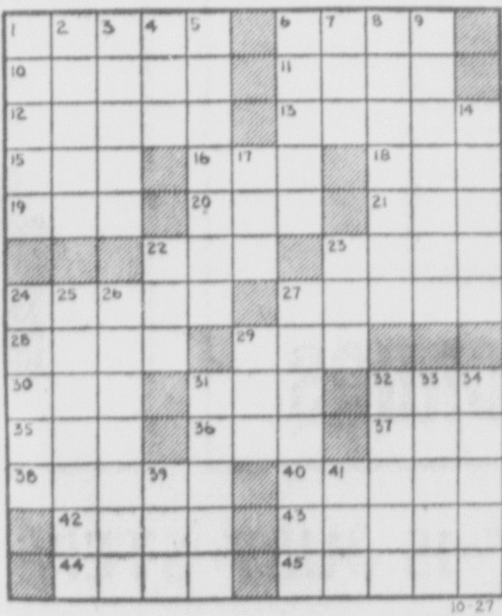

But Flores Mora's dispute with his economic opponents isn't over. He also disagrees with Jorge Batlle Ibanez, a newspaper editor, and another duel is scheduled to take place after the senator's recovery. The custom may seem strange and barbaric to Americans, but after only slight reflection one may see and appreciate the intrinsic civility of the procedure. Honor is maintained. And although somebody could be killed, nobody ever is. By custom, the first to sustain a cut is the loser.

The method is also quick and decisive, a dignified substitute for all the prattling and backbiting that so often bedevils rather than clarifies issues. The threat of the sword might slice in half the number of irresponsible statements.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

KEN McCORMICK comes up with the story of a deserving fellow who went broke in Wall Street, then in the haberdashery business, then as an ad executive, and capped it all by striking out as an accountant. But wait — all was not lost! He's now cleaned up a tidy fortune with a book analyzing why men fail!

A Hollywood producer, equally famous for the great pictures he sponsored and his onslaught on the English language, once made a million-dollar deal with his old friend and star, Danny Kaye. "Danny," he told him when the contract had been signed, "I know we're going to get along great on this picture. After all, who knows better than I do all your shortcomings—and all your longcomings?"

Later, the producer announced another new film masterpiece. "What's it about?" he was asked. "It's about three people," elucidated the producer—"a man, a woman, and a dog."

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Have you ever noticed how frequently you sneeze when you look directly at the sun? Are you surprised how quickly you are aware of a speck of dust that falls into your eye? Do you wonder why you yawn when the room becomes laden with smoke?

Most of us simply assume that it all just happens, and are unaware of the magnificent network of nerves responsible for these reactions. Coming out of the brain are twelve distinct nerves that control our taste, our hearing, our sight, and our sense of smell. In addition, these nerves control the regularity of our breathing, the rate of our heartbeat, the movement of our eyes, and direct our swallowing so that food does not enter our lungs.

The first, the olfactory nerve, is responsible for the recognition and differentiation of the odors we experience. The second, the optic nerve, transmits the vision and color to the brain.

The third, the oculomotor nerve, along with the fourth, the trochlear, and the sixth, or abducens, control the intricate movements and coordination of the eyes.

The trigeminal, or fifth nerve, has three branches that control some of the major muscles used in chewing. This is the nerve that can be affected by the painful spasm known as tic douloureux.

The facial is the seventh nerve; this controls the muscles of the forehead, the face, and the lips. This is the one that can be temporarily paralyzed by Bell's palsy, or facial paralysis.

The eighth nerve has two distinct branches: one is responsible for hearing, the other plays an important role in our sense of balance. The ninth, or glossopharyngeal nerve, controls most of the swallowing mechanism.

The tenth, or vagus nerve, is involved in almost every important function of the body, affecting the heart, the lungs, and the entire intestinal tract.

The eleventh, the accessory nerve, controls the muscles of the neck and shoulder. The twelfth, the hypoglossal nerve, affects a part of the motion of the tongue. On these twelve nerves depend most of the vital aspects of good health.

Cutting one's own corns can be fascinating but dangerous.

Thieving Raven Up For Grabs

COSTA MESA, Calif. (AP)—Leroy, a raven with a habit of lifting wallets and watches, is up for grabs in this coastal city 35 miles south of Los Angeles.

Leroy's owner, Harold Berg, says he is selling his home and is looking for someone who will take the raven.

But Berg cautions any interested party that the bird picks up wallets and watches left lying around and carries them in its beak to its nest on the Berg home's roof.

"If she's got something she thinks you really want," Berg says, "she'll fly to the roof, out of reach, and tear it to pieces."

Angela--A Martyr

By JEFFREY HART

It may at first sound surprising, but a number of the more astute college administrators wish that Angela Davis had ended up in Havana, Algiers, Stockholm, or some other fetid sanctuary, rather than in the hands of the FBI and the New York police. From any point of view other than that of strict Catoian justice, I am inclined to agree.

Abroad, Angela would be as harmless as Eldridge Cleaver, who issues a stream of rabid but unread manifestos from Algeria and elsewhere. But Angela's trial will be dynamite. It is certain to evoke with unprecedented intensity the disruptive and violent groups on the campus and elsewhere.

The fact that she is charged with complicity in a peculiarly ghastly crime will not matter. She is said to have purchased the guns used in the courthouse shoot-out last summer in San Rafael, Calif., an outrage in which the widely revered Judge Harold J. Haley was slain — by, it is charged, a shotgun purchased by Angela — and in which three blacks were also shot dead. The very violence of these events may, perversely, make Angela all the more attractive to the radical fringe.

The key point is that the Angela Davis trial will be quite different in its impact from other recent trials involving radicals and black militants. Bobby Seale, Huey Newton and the other Black Panthers, for example, are alien figures and their appeal is largely vicarious. Essentially, they are thugs out of the ghetto, figures from some nether world, and when they are seen in the flesh — as, last spring at Yale — they prove highly unsettling to a middle class audience. But Angela Davis is a different matter. She is the perfect, almost too perfect, representative of the most powerful themes of contemporary campus radicalism.

She is virtually a caricature of the so-called counter-culture. At 26, she is "under 30." She is a student — a graduate student in philosophy.

She is, or recently was, a "younger faculty member" at UCLA — and thus a member of an especially volatile academic stratum. She normally sports an enormous Afro, and so embodies the hair culture. Her photographs usually show her either picketing in some Third World cause or else standing under a Che Guevara poster. Indeed, she is so perfect a representative of every last aspect of the radical Kiddy Culture that it would be fitting if she were stuffed and put on exhibit at the Smithsonian.

She has even studied with Herbert Marcuse, a leading guru of the New Left who is noted for his woolly Hegelian comments on American society. Though no one, so far as I know, has looked up her Master's essay in philosophy, she is routinely — and, I suspect, ritualistically — described as "brilliant." She is also always described as "beautiful," though I myself have difficulty in comprehending how that word can be applied to her leaden and baleful expressionlessness. Of course she is a Communist, and it only adds to her allure as a symbol that she has been harried by the California Regents and by the Reagan administration, prime embodiments, as you will be told by any assistant professor, of American fascism.

Angela would be ludicrous — an individual so entirely absorbed by a cultural role is inherently funny — were she not likely to prove so dangerous.

Her imprisonment, her extradition to California, and her trial seem certain to become the focus for a nationwide campaign of protest and violence. She had scarcely been sealed in the Women's House of Detention in New York than the lunatic radicals who bombed the international studies center at Harvard had dedicated the bombing to her; the prison doors had only just closed upon her when Gus Hall, general secretary of the U.S. Communist Party, was calling for a national movement to liberate Angela.

The factors here are all too clear. And I would predict: a vast national Free Angela Davis campaign that will unite in the common effort the varied strands of black, white and campus radicalism. We can only hope that we will be spared our first major political kidnapping, Quebec style, in which a major public official would be held as a hostage for Angela.

Big Barn Blaze Loss $20,000

FRANKLIN, Ohio (AP) — The barn of Matt Green, Franklin was destroyed Sunday in a four hour fire which also caused an estimated $20,000 in damages.

The fire began when Green tried to start a tractor, fire officials said. The vehicle backfired, setting a fire between 6,000 and 7,000 bales of hay. Besides the hay, the loss included the tractor, a hay machine, corn plater, a wagon, other smaller items and 20 head of sheep. The barn burned to the ground and several other buildings were scorched. There were no injuries.

Hatlo's They'll Do It Every Time

Time For Red Offensive In Laos Nears

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — With the onset of the dry season the time is approaching for the annual North Vietnamese-Pathet Lao offensive in northern Laos. The royal government's military forces are in their most precarious position in several years.

Western military sources say the government's best hope of staving off a serious setback lies with one of two things—an agreement through talks with the Communist insurgents, or a shift in military priorities by the North Vietnamese. They continue to call most of the shots in this on-again war.

Many senior officials believe a shift is likely. They expect this season's heaviest fighting not in the customary battle-ground around the Plain of Jars, but in the Laos panhandle. There North Vietnamese are trying to keep the Ho Chi Minh trail open while establishing new, supplementary lines of supply and communication.

"We believe that while they will apply some pressure in northern Laos, Hanoi's real interest is in the south—the absolute integrity of their lines of communication. We believe they will pay any price to maintain that," said one authoritative source. The Ho Chi Minh trail has become more important to Hanoi in the wake of last spring's political upheaval in Cambodia.

Expansion of the Indochina war into Cambodia is seen as having put new strains on North Vietnamese manpower, requiring a search for new, safer ways of moving troops and supplies southward.

There are signs of increased activity along the trail network that runs from North Vietnam through the Laos panhandle into Cambodia. Mostly the activity is repair of damage done by the monsoons just ending.

At the same time, the North Vietnamese apparently are expanding several base and supply staging areas along the Se Kong River. It parallels the trail and provides a water supply route into northern Cambodia.

To counter this activity, heavy allied bombing has been carried out in the panhandle, especially along the Ho Chi Minh trail. On some recent days B52 bombers have concentrated there.

The key to the panhandle, sources here and in Vietnam agree, is control of the eastern rim of the Bolovens Plateau which overlooks the Se Kong and its lacework of tributaries. Laotian forces now hold the Bolovens Plateau, and presumably will fight to keep it. The North Vietnamese, however, hold Attapeu and Saravane, important towns they seized last April and May.

It appears that recent operations by Saigon forces in northern South Vietnam close to the Laotian border have been mostly psychological maneuvers to worry the North Vietnamese and keep their troops tied down to protect the trail.

Officials in both Laos and South Vietnam discount the possibility of an actual invasion of the Lao Panhandle from South Vietnam.

Some senior officials contend such a move would be militarily infeasible. One source in Vientiane suggested that world opinion would view it as a widening of the war.

Royal Lao government forces in north-central Laos are struggling to improve a defensive position against another of the enemy's yearly pushes southward in the direction of this administrative capital.

Van Pao, the doughty general whose CIA-led army of some 8,000-10,000 Meo tribesmen and Lao troops carried the brunt of battle last dry season, has been weakened by casualties and difficulties in recruiting. He had peak strength last January of about 14,000 men.

At the beginning of the Communist command's offensive last February, royal Lao forces held the Plain of Jars for the first time in six years.

Under pressure from enemy forces and reportedly at the urging of U.S. officials, they withdrew once again. The end of the dry season in April found the North Vietnamese and Pathet Lao farther south than at any time in memory here.

Van Pao, unable to mount an effective counter-offensive during the monsoon, is now trying to consolidate his defenses to prevent further southward movements.

In recent weeks Van Pao claimed two significant victories—capture of Muong Suoi, west of the Plain of Jars, and of Ban Na, a military outpost and village in mountains overlooking its southern edge and controlling valleys leading to Van Pao's headquarters base at Long Cheng and the big U.S. support base at Sam Thong.

Informed sources say he intends to launch a drive northward into the rugged country between Muong Soui and Ban Na in hopes of forestalling an offensive.

For northern Laos, the biggest unknown factor is the possibility of peace talks between Prime Minister Souvanna Phouma's government and the Pathet Lao led by his half-brother Prince Souphanouvong. Proposals for the talks are bogged down on procedural questions.

Some think a new effort to get the two sides together may follow Souvanna's return from Europe and the United States.

Soviet Dancers Put On Show

LONDON (AP) —Rudolf Nureyev and Natalia Makarova, two Soviet ballet dancers who defected to the West, performed "Swan Lake" Sunday night under heavy police guard.

An invitation-only audience saw the ballet, staged for taping by the British Broadcasting Corp. for a Christmas show. Nureyev defected nine years ago, Miss Makarova last month. It was their first starring appearance together.

Spoons of bronze or iron were in widespread if expensive vogue in Italy about 1,000 years ago, but poor families might share a single wooden spoon. Dinner guests in those days were expected to bring their own spoons — as well as daggers for the meat platter.

Parishioners Angered By Selling Proposal

UPTON-ON-SEVERN, England (AP) — Parishioners of St. Peter and St. Paul, a local Anglican church, are indignant at suggestions that their Victorian neogothic building might be sold to the Episcopal Church in the USA.

The proposal was raised by Commander N.R. Corbet Milward, a parochial council member, who wrote in the Worcester Diocesan Messenger that it was selfish for Upton to hang on to a church that was hardly used. "It should make a noble gesture and offer it to the Episcopal Church in the United States, where they really use their churches," he suggested. The Rev. Charles Hand, rector, said people were so indignant about the Commander's idea that he thought more might turn up for the services.

Ohio presented a varied weather picture Monday night. Heavy fog formed over much of the northern third but dissipated in many sections as the night wore on.

Temperatures were stratified geographically across the state. Readings remained in the lower 50s in western sections while dropping into the middle and upper 40s in eastern counties.

At 6 a.m. today the coolest spot was Youngstown at 44 degrees closely followed by a 45 reading in Zanesville while the warmest were Toledo and Dayton with 54.

Little change in Ohio's weather is expected for the next few

Report Nerve Gas Vaults Not Leaking

WASHINGTON (AP) — Scientists have found no evidence of leaking gas or damage to marine life in the Atlantic where the Army disposed of tons of nerve gas aboard a sunken cargo ship last August, the Pentagon announced Monday.

In a brief statement, the Pentagon said photographs taken of the 16 Baron Russell Briggs, a World War II Liberty ship, showed that it did not break up upon settling in 16,000 feet of water about 280 miles east of the Florida coast.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Adopted Children Should Know Facts

DEAR ABBY: A young mother complained that her mother-in-law always introduced her and her children, who were still toddlers, as "my daughter in law and her two adopted children." The young mother was resentful and you agreed that she had a right to be. I think you are both wrong.

It is never too soon to let children know then they are adopted. They should hear the word "adopted" long before they even know what the word means so they'll grow up knowing that they are adopted.

I still remember when I was 8 running home from school, crying because someone told me I was adopted. I begged my mother to tell me it wasn't true. She assured me it wasn't. When I was 12, I heard the story again, and again I asked my mother if it was true. Again she swore it wasn't. Not until I was 24 and about to be married did my mother tell me the truth and even then it was a terrible shock.

Please retract your statement Abby. The mother-in-law was wise to have introduced the children as "adopted."

DEAR MRS. L: I agree, it is never too soon to tell children they are adopted but I think the parents should tell them, and having once been told, unless it is said with obvious pride it's not necessary to include the word "adopted" in every introduction. From the young mother's letter I assumed that "pride" was lacking. She could have been mistaken. And so could I. Thank you for making a valid point.

DEAR ABBY: I am not even sure how to word this but I will do my best. There are six couples of us who go around together. We are all in our middle thirties and we all like to dance. There is no hanky panky in our crowd. We're all satisfied with our own husbands and we don't fool around.

There is one man in our group, who is really a nice person but when he dances he holds his partner extremely tight and close. It's not only the tightness and closeness but he gets too intimate when he dances—it's downright indecent. I keep pulling away and struggling the whole time.

At first I thought he danced that way only with me but I noticed another girl having the same trouble with him. Finally, a few of us started talking and it turns out he dances that way with all of us. Abby, is it possible that he isn't aware of what he is doing? His wife is a lovely person and I'm sure she doesn't know the way he dances with us. Can this problem be solved without hurting his feelings?

DISGUSTED

DEAR DISGUSTED: Why all the pussyfooting around? It's a pretty safe bet that this man is aware of what he is doing. When he asks you to dance tell him no—you don't care for his style of dancing. He'll get the message. And don't worry about hurting his "feelings." I have an idea he can look after himself.

DEAR ABBY: I have never written a letter to you before but I think the following might interest you and some of your readers:

Yesterday was an old man's birthday. He was 91. He awakened earlier than usual, bathed, shaved and put on his best clothes. Surely they would come today he thought.

He wouldn't take his daily walk to the gas station to visit with the old-timers of the community because he wanted to be right here when they came.

He sat on the front porch with a clear view of the road so he could see them coming. Surely they would come today.

He'd skip his noon nap today, because he wanted to be up when they came. He has six children. Two of his daughters and their married children live within a few miles. They hadn't been to see him for such a long time, and today was his birthday. Surely they would come.

At supper time when a small cake and ice cream was served, he wondered if perhaps he shouldn't wait and have dessert with "them" when they came.

Night time came, and he went to his room and got ready for bed and his last words before turning out his light were, "Promise to wake me when they come." It was his birthday and he was 91.

Pair Enter Guilty Pleas To KSU Probe Contempt

RAVENNA, Ohio (AP) — A state prosecutor who aided a special state grand jury investigation into violence last May at Kent State University and a Kent professor who appeared before the jury have pleaded guilty to contempt of court charges in connection with newspaper interviews.

Al persons connected with the grand jury are under court order not to discuss the disturbances. But over the weekend state prosecutor Seabury H. Ford of Ravenna granted an interview, and Kent geology professor Glenn Frank publicly took issue with it.

Ford, 68-year-old head of the Portage County Republican Party, was interviewed by Knight newspapers writer William Schmidt. Ford acknowledged the interview and said he should not have granted it, but also claimed that he was misquoted.

Junior High To Hold Open House

"Bridging the Educational Gap" has been selected as the theme for the Annual Open House at the Circleville Junior High School. The event is scheduled for Thursday, Oct. 29 at 7:30 p.m. All parents are cordially welcome.

Principal J. L. Chilcote announces that the program will begin with a brief general conference in the auditorium. After this meeting, parents will be given the opportunity of following a shortened schedule of their students classes for the day. They will meet teachers and discuss the theme of the evening.

An informal social hour in the cafeteria will follow. Mrs. Gloria Gabriel and some of her home economics classes will serve refreshments.

This fifth annual open house is a part of the observance of American Education Week, October 25-31.

Lindsay Blasts Nixon, Agnew Election Policy

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor John V. Lindsay has charged that President Nixon is personally accountable for introducing the tactics of fear into campaign efforts to eliminate his political foes.

The President's 1970 political strategy "has spread a cloud of suspicion and mistrust over our whole nation," Lindsay said Monday night at the Family of Man dinner at the New York Hilton Hotel.

"This is one of the few campaigns in memory in which men apparently seek not merely to defeat their opponents but literally to eliminate them from our public life," the mayor said.

Lindsay, a registered Republican, accused the Republican President and Vice President Spiro T. Agnew of abandoning party principles to claim "that opposition to their policies somehow is an incitement to unrest and violence."

Overpowering Odor

GWELLO, Rhodesia (AP) — More than 200 cases of liquor worth about $2,500 Rhodesian ($3,500 US) were smashed in a road collision recently. Police described the smell of alcohol as quite overpowering. Said one, "I began to get a bit high just standing there."

Nixon Rejects Porno Panel Conclusions

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has flatly rejected the conclusions and major recommendations of a commission that urged an easing of many restrictions on pornography.

In a statement released over the weekend during a campaign stop near Baltimore, Nixon said permissiveness toward pornography "would contribute to an atmosphere condoning anarchy in every field—and would increase the threat to our social order as well as to our moral principles."

The National Commission on Obscenity and Pornography had recommended lifting many curbs on pornography for adults.

But Nixon called for tighter restrictions.

"I have evaluated that report and categorically reject its morally bankrupt conclusions and major recommendations," Nixon said.

But the commission chairman, William Lockhart, accused Nixon of ignoring research on which the conclusions were based.

"I am sure he personally has had no time to study the commission's 800-page report, considering his very busy campaign schedule since returning from Europe, and his preoccupation with war and peace," Lockhart said.

The President, Lockhart said, "is unhappy because the scientific studies do not support the assumptions congenial to his point of view."

The commission's report was made public Sept. 30 and ran into immediate Nixon administration objections. Vice President Spiro T. Agnew dismissed it the day it was made public as the product of President Lyndon B. Johnson's Democratic administration.

Cold Air Brings Rain And Snow

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Cold air streaming into the midcontinent scattered more snow over the central Rockies today and triggered soaking rains in sections of the Midwest and South.

Temperatures dipped into the teens and occasionally lower in the northern Rockies before daybreak.

One to 2 inches of snow fell overnight in scattered areas of Wyoming and Colorado. Travelers warnings were in effect for southern mountain sections of Colorado and north-central and northeastern New Mexico for locally heavy and blowing and drifting snow.

Seven inches of snow blanketed Hays Center, Kan., and 3 inches whitened Imperial and North Platte, Neb., Monday.

The snow gave way to cold rain over the eastern Great Plains.

Thunderstorms ranging from Iowa to Arkansas and Texas dumped an inch or more of rain in parts of Iowa, Missouri, Arkansas and Illinois.

A tornado swooped down near McAlester, Okla., late Monday and smashed two trailers in a four-trailer convoy. High winds also unroofed a house near Conway, Ark. No injuries were reported in either storm.

Fog shrouded portions of the Great Lakes region. Cloudy and

Gilligan Turns Eye To Housing

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

John J. Gilligan, Democratic candidate for governor, said today housing rehabilitation could provide a "good, safe return for the state" and rapped the Republican administration for failure to appropriate $500 million for a housing fund.

Gilligan, in remarks prepared for delivery in Toledo, said the state can help citizens get decent housing by providing funds for housing rehabilitation.

"Rising interest rates have made the purchase of decent housing nearly impossible for those living on low and middle incomes," he said. "But the state can help our citizens into decent housing with an honest commitment."

He pointed out that two years ago Republicans promised a housing fund of $500 million in state money, but added, "The money is still unappropriated."

Gilligan and U.S. Rep. Thomas L. Ashley, D-Toledo, were scheduled today to visit a Toledo home rehabilitated under a loan fund created with local and federal funds.

Meanwhile, Gilligan's opponent, Republican Roger Cloud was scheduled to travel through Muskingum, Guernsey, Jefferson, Ashtabula, Cuyahoga, Marion and Lucas counties today.

In a Monday speech to the Women's Club in Cincinnati Cloud charged that while Gilligan was a congressman in 1965 and 1966, he was "one of Lyndon Johnson's favorite rubber stamps."

He said his opponent voted for "every big social spending program proposed by the Johnson Administration."

The appropriations Gilligan supported, he said, "were directly responsible for the inflation and high cost of living we are experiencing today."

Cloud asked, "Is it any wonder that he now says the only solution of Ohio's problems is a massive tax increase he says must be accepted by every Ohioan?"

In the campaign for U.S. Senate, Democrat Howard Metzenbaum charged his opponent "turned his back on parents and children of Ohio" when he failed to vote on a bill to block the mailing of obscene materials to children.

Metzenbaum, in a statement released in Toledo, said the bill passed the U.S. House of Representatives last April and was among 22 major items on which Robert Taft Jr., did not vote.

"A total of 375 representatives stood up and were counted when this vital bill passed," he said. "Bob Taft was absent." Meanwhile, Taft, in a statement released in Cleveland, said Monday he regretted appearance of an advertisement against his opponent in The Cleveland Press.

The one column ad, entitled "Metzenbaum and Zionism," said Metzenbaum should be defeated because he might become a spokesman for Israel. "I regret deeply that such an advertisement has appeared," Taft said. "I do not know the sponsor... and am shocked by and deplore such an expression of anti-Semitism."

Scientists Find Evidence Of Earlier Migration Of Man

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A noted scientist says new archaeological findings prove that man migrated to North America—probably from Asia—30,000 to 80,000 years earlier than previously supposed.

"Man has been in America for more than 50,000 years," Dr. Louis S.B. Leakey told newsmen Monday. "We are satisfied that we have uncovered a new chapter in the history of man in America."

Leakey said small pieces of stone unearthed eight months ago in the Mojave Desert of Southern California show that man lived there at least 50,000 "and more probably 100,000 years ago."

Leakey, one of the world's best known experts on early man, announced the findings at the Leakey Archaeological Foundation, together with scientists who worked under his direction.

Earlier calculations placed man on the North American continent earlier than 20,000 years ago. The few findings, in a gully near the desert town of Calico, now present scientists with a gap of at least 30,000 years about which they know absolutely nothing, Leakey said.

The stones found at Calico under 22 feet of topsoil apparently formed a hearth about 16 inches in diameter, he said. A colleague, Ruth Simpson, reported that magnetic tests showed the rocks had been subjected to intense heat.

Near the hearth were chips of stone that must have been used for scraping, perhaps to skin animals, Leakey said.

Leakey said carbon dating and other tests place the age of the stones at 50,000 to 120,000 years.

The nature of the soil prevented fossils or other signs of animal or plant life from being preserved, scientists said.

Asked Monday where the first North Americans come from, Leakey said, "They must have come from Asia. Your bison, your mountain sheep all arrived here fully evolved and undoubtedly came from Asia. Man must have followed them."

CHS Tigers Hold Third Spot In State Grid Standings

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An air of stability hit The Associated Press' state high school football ratings today with Massillon, New Lexington and Marion Pleasant retaining their top spots.

Massillon, an impressive 52-0 winner over Barberton last week, piled up 251 points to 226 for No. 2 Upper Arlington in the Class AAA poll. Upper Arlington whipped Zanesville 34-10 last week.

New Lexington continued to lead the Class AA teams, its 215-point total good for a 34-point lead over runner-up Bucyrus among the medium sized schools.

A statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters kept in Class A with Mechanicsburg Marion Pleasant in first place vaulting from fifth place to second to provide a new challenge. Pleasant polled 211 points, Mechanicsburg 180.

The top two contenders in all three classes carry 7-0 records for the season.

Canton McKinley (5-0-1), a 47-8 victory over Toledo DeVilbiss Friday night, held third place in Class AAA. Sidney, sailing along with a 7-0-0 mark after thumping Piqua 57-0, jumped from a tie for fifth last week with Lancaster into the No. 4 spot.

Cincinnati Moeller (6-1-0) despite a 51-8 beating of Newport, Ky., Catholic, slipped one peg to fifth place among the big schools.

In Class AA, Circleville (7-0-0) broke a tie for third place with Castalia Margaretta. Margaretta (7-0-0) fell to fifth place behind Portsmouth West (7-0-0) fifth a week ago.

Circleville trimmed Miami Trace 26-9, Portsmouth West blanked Minford 56-0 and Castalia Margaretta beat Fostoria St. Wendelin last week.

Marion Pleasant shut out Carey 22-0 Friday night while Cory Rawson, No. 2 last week, was upset by Arlington 7-0 and summed to eighth place in Class A this week.

Mechanicsburg rode a 40-16 triumph over Mount Sterling The Plains into the runner-up spot among the smallest schools. Portsmouth Notre Dame (7-0-0), a 52-6 victory over Lucasville Valley, retained third place.

Tuscarawas Catholic (7-0-0) held on to Nov. 4 after its 33-0 shutout of Midvale Indian Valley North.

New London (7-0-0), eighth a week ago, topped Wakeman

Western Reserve 11-0 and leaped three spots into the No. 5 position in Class A.

Ali Defeats Quarry; Joe Frazier Next

ATLANTA (AP) — Muhammad Ali is back and ready to meet champion Joe Frazier in a fight that should be an explosive climax to what has been several years of confusion, frustration and doubt in boxing's heavyweight division.

"I'm ready to settle the title," Ali said Monday night after disposing of tough Jerry Quarry in three rounds in Ali's first fight in 3 years.

"Quarry was much harder to fight than Joe Frazier will be," said the man who rose to the heavyweight championship as Cassius Clay and then was stripped of his title when he was convicted of refusing induction into the Army.

"We're ready to fight him as soon as we can get rid of Foster and as soon as Clay can get ready," Frazier's manager, Yank Durham said in East Stroudsburg, Pa., where Frazier is training for a title defense against light heavyweight king Bob Foster in Detroit Nov. 18.

Frazier did not see Ali's triumphant return, which was shown on closed circuit television, but he didn't go to sleep until he knew the result.

Foster, who has a thunderous left hook could upset an Ali-Frazier fight. Another block could be Ali's conviction which drew a $10,000 fine and a five-year prison sentence. The conviction still is being appealed.

Ali was a heavy favorite to win the historic fight at Atlanta's old Municipal Auditorium, jammed with 5,100 people, but it was the manner in which he won it which showed that indeed he once again is a major force in boxing.

From the opening bell of the scheduled 15-rounder until the fight was stopped at the end of the third round with blood gushing from Quarry's split left eyebrow, Ali was in complete command.

Using his 5½-inch reach advantage and showing he had not lost his punching speed, Ali peppered Quarry with stinging left jabs and jolts him with left hooks and rights. It was a straight right in the third round that ripped open Quarry's eyebrow a wound that required 15 stitches.

"The guy I saw with Quarry was the same guy that fought Folley," said Ali's manager, Angelo Dundee. "I was amazed at what I saw."

Ali, now 28, fought Zora Folley March 22, 1967 and won by a seven-round knockout.

Ali's transformation from lecturer, actor and fast food impresario to a fighter that closely resembled himself 3½ years ago was truly amazing. Ali weighed 238 when he began training for the Quarry fight six weeks ago. Monday night he weighed 213½. Just two more pounds than he weighed when he fought Folley and 16 pounds more than Quarry.

Headley Wins 1st Piccolo Award For Play Sunday

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Hanging out the college football wash: Win Headley, Wake Forest's defensive tackle, was presented Sunday with the first annual Brian Piccolo Award, named after the late Wake Forest and Chicago Bears running back who died of cancer this year. It will go annually to the Wake Forest player who best typifies the play of Piccolo in the annual game against North Carolina.

Playing most of the way with a painfully bruised right instep, Headley made nine unassisted tackles, including five the last two times Carolina had the ball while trying to erase a 14-13 deficit, heped out on six others and generally cleared the way for linebacker Ed Stetz to get in on 27 stops. After the game, Headley had to be helped into the shower by teammates.

Last week, Rick Lewis, a defensive back for Georgia Tech, asked Coach Bud Carson, "How come the sports writers always interview the same guys?" Lewis wasn't one of them.

The 190-pound junior didn't lack for attention Saturday after he picked a fumble by Tulane's punter out of the air with 12 minutes left and raced 30 yards to snap a scoreless tie. Only 27 seconds later, he intercepted a pass and went 56 yards for another touchdown. A few minutes after that he picked off another pass and returned it 22 yards to set up Tech's third score in a 20-6 victory.

ABC-TV's Wild Card games—four regional contests on Nov. 14 and one national game any time—haven't been made public yet... but you can make some pretty good guesses.

For the Nov. 14 regionals, try Ohio State-Purdue, Georgia-Auburn and Utah-Arizona State, with one more to come. Best bet for the national Wild Card is Notre Dame-Southern Cal on Nov. 28 as the nightcap of a doubleheader, with Army-Navy kicking it off.

ABC has made a change in this Saturday's TV schedule. The Nebraska-Colorado telecast has been extended into parts of the Midwest and a larger area of the Northeast, pre-empting Southern Cal - California, which will be seen only on the West Coast and part of Nevada.

NCAA Panel Eyes Costs Of Athletics

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A National Collegiate Athletic Association committee looking for ways to help college athletic departments halt spiraling costs has a revolutionary suggestion — limit the number of scholarships and base the amount of the scholarship on need.

The Financial Aid Committee of the NCAA presented its suggestion Monday to the powerful 18-man governing Council of the NCAA.

The Council scheduled a news conference at noon to announce its decision on whether to present the committee's plan to the next convention of the NCAA for discussion.

An informal poll of several council members Monday night found most of them receptive to the idea.

The proposal would limit the number of scholarships any NCAA member could give to 30 in football and six in basketball. The other half of the two-prong plan would set up a formula under which a school could give a student only that financial help he needed.

The need would be based on the federal income tax return of the student's parents. Once it was determined how much the family could afford to pay each year, the family would be expected to pay that amount no matter which school was chosen, with the selected school making up the difference in the form of an athletic scholarship.

Conferences currently limit the number of scholarships their members can grant but the limit varies widely among conferences. Some independent schools reportedly give as many as 50 football scholarships annually.

Athletic scholarships normally pay room, board, books and tuition, plus a small monthly allowance for such incidentals as laundry.

Judging Rapped
PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—A cool desert wind drew a curtain of dust over the 40th World Shooting Championships Monday night, after final award ceremonies were completed with the aid of automobile headlights.

Free-rifle gold medalist Margaret Murdock of Topeka, Kan., expressed the feelings of most American team members when she said, "There was really no 'best' feature of the matches. There were many inadequacies."

John Foster, gold medal winner in the army rifle match, cited an "anti-American attitude" on the part of International Shooting Union jurors, but added, "I can't prove it."

The American team, he said, was subject to "a lot of negative jury opinions, starting the first day with a hassle over shooting coats."

Minnesota Vikings Stun Rams, 13-3

MINNEAPOLIS - ST. PAUL (AP) — Carl Eller simply explained that the Minnesota Vikings took the right attitude to the line of scrimmage on a game-turning goal line stand against the Los Angeles Rams.

"We never doubt ourselves," said Eller, a 6-foot-6, 250-pound defensive end. "We realize the percentages. But we will never concede."

The Rams, after Kermit Alexander's 49-yard return of a deflected punt, had a first down on Minnesota's two with 13 seconds left in the first half and the Vikings leading 10-0 in a rainy, muddy National Football League game Monday night.

First, Les Josephson got a yard in the middle. Roman Gabriel got a few inches on a quarterback sneak. And Gabriel was smothered in the middle again on third down as time ran out for the second time of the half, and the Vikings finished up with a 13-3 victory in the Monday night television game.

The Rams actually got an extra down after Gabriel's second down thrust over right tackle and no time on the scoreboard clock. But referee Fred Silva ruled that the Vikings did not nuple in time, and gave Gabriel another down.

But it made little difference. Alexander actually thought he had put six points on the board with his run after Willie Ellison stormed into get a hand on Tom McNeill's punt. Jim Lindsey tackled him at the two.

"I thought I was over," said Alexander. "I should have tried to elude Lindsey, but I was worrying about a fumble."

Alexander had cause for worry. The Rams lost four of seven fumbles and Vikings turned two of them into 10 points.

Ram return man Alvin Haymond dropped a punt on the Ram 18 in the first period, and Kent Kramer recovered for the Vikings.

Bill Brown slipped between guard and tackle, sped up the middle up the field and took Gary Cuozzo's 17-yard touchdown pass in the end zone for a 7-0 edge.

Rams' running back Larry Smith fumbled in the second period, Alan Page picked it up at the Los Angeles 22 and ran to the 14. Fred Cox kicked a 13-yard field goal.

Dave Ray kicked a 23-yard field goal for the Rams in the third period, but Cox booted a 25-yarder for the Vikings in the final quarter.

The Vikings held the Rams to 100 yards total offense, 24 rushing, and piled up 146 rushing of their own against the team that had led the NFL in defending the run.

Bill Brown led Minnesota's ground attack with 62 yards and became the 13th player in NFL history to surpass the 5,000-yard mark in rushing. Dave Osborn added 58 yards.

The victory gave the Vikings a 5-1 record and sends them into Detroit next Sunday to meet the Lions, also 5-1, for the Central Division lead of the National Conference. Los Angeles, dropping to second with a 4-2 record in the West behind San Francisco's 4-1-1, plays at New Orleans.

Boston Bruins Lead NHL Scoring Race
NEW YORK (AP) — The Boston Bruins are just a bunch of good skates... and five of their players are cutting up the National Hockey League scoring race.

Led by front-runner Phil Esposito with 13 points, the Bruins show why they're undefeated in the East Division with five of the top ten scorers.

Esposito has six goals and seven assists for 13 points. John McKenzie of Boston is tied for second with Yvan Cournoyer of Montreal and Pit Martin of Chicago with 11 points.

OSU Faces Northwestern After Avoiding Illini Upset

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Wisconsin 24-14 and Purdue 38-14 for their unexpected league showing.

"We know they have an exceptionally fine football team," Ohio State coach Woody Hayes said. "They lead the league in both offense and defense."

Northwestern has run 489 plays to 402 for its foes and has collected 1,140 yards rushing and another 873 passing.

All league halfback Mike Adamle, son of former Cleveland Browns star Tony Adamle, leads the Wildcat runners with 646 yards and owns another 130 yards in receptions.

Maurie Daigneau "has all the familiar skills" of a good quarterback, Sarkkinen said. Daigneau has completed 60 of 327 passes for 692 yards and five touchdowns.

His favorite receiver is split end Jim Bash with 13 receptions for 234 yards and two scores.

"They are mostly seniors, a year older, wiser and much finer football players," Sarkkinen said. "Twenty-one of them are Ohioans and they are not just coming back to the state as visitors."

Hayes was in an affable mood, joking as he carried in a television cameraman's sound equipment. "I just wanted to show I'm not mad at all news media."

Sarkkinen said the Wildcats have used ball control, a balanced offense and a solid defense to polish off Illinois 48-0,

Buckeyes Out Of Top Poll Spot

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Texas Longhorns, defending national champions, sneaked past Ohio State today into first place in The Associated Press college football poll.

Texas, which trounced Rice 45-21 last weekend to run the nation's longest winning streak to 25 games, drew one less first-place vote than Ohio State—16-15—but piled up 670 points to 664 for the Buckeyes, who had to come from behind in the second half to defeat Illinois 48-29.

Some 38 sports writers and broadcasters across the country participated in the poll, which had Ohio State on top all season.

The Longhorns, Buckeyes and third-place Notre Dame all have 5-0 records.

"This really does flabbergast me," enthused Coach Darrell Royal, who once said Texas could never be No. 1 unless every team in the Big Ten had been beaten. "It really surprises me," he added, "but it's a pleasant surprise."

Then he asked with a chuckle, "This isn't the final poll, is it? Notre Dame's still right in there and we have five games left."

Besides Ohio State, fifth-ranked Michigan also is an unbeaten Big Ten team.

Notre Dame picked up four of the remaining seven first-place votes, with one apiece going to No. 4 Nebraska, No. 5 Michigan and No. 7 Air Force. All those teams retained last week's rankings, but Stanford climbed past Air Force from eighth to sixth after edging UCLA 9-7.

Notre Dame was idle last weekend, while Nebraska crushed Oklahoma State 63-31, Michigan whipped Minnesota 39-13 and Air Force trounced Boston 35-10.

Rounding out the new Top Ten were Arkansas, Tennessee and Louisiana State, which were ninth, 11th and 14th, respectively, a week ago.

Auburn, a 17-9 loser to LSU, fell from sixth to 12th and Southern California dropped from 10th to 18th after bowing to Oregon 10-7.

The Second Ten consisted of Arizona State, Auburn, Mississippi, San Diego State, Pittsburgh, Oregon, Missouri Southern Cal, UCLA and Northwestern.

Last week it was Tennessee, Arizona State, Ole Miss, LSU, Houston, UCLA, San Diego State, Pitt and Colorado and Toledo tied for 19th.

Rich Moore Of Packers Is Injured

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The already strained Green Bay Packers defense has suffered another setback with the loss—apparently for the rest of the season—of tackle Rich Moore.

The Denver Broncos' defensive unit was also depleted in last Sunday's National Football League action as cornerback Brooker Edgerson received knee ligament injuries requiring surgery and sidelining the nine year pro for the rest of the year.

Moore, a 6-foot-6, 260-pound former Villanova star, was one of three Packers hurt in Green Bay's 30-17 triumph over Philadelphia. He suffered a torn achilles tendon. Running back Travis Williams suffered a severely sprained ankle and is a questionable starter next Sunday against San Francisco.

Center Ken Bowman, out with a dislocated shoulder, probably will be replaced by Malcolm Walker, Coach Phil Bengtson said.

Baltimore running back Tom Matte, who had been out of action since the Colts' first game of the season with an injured left knee, returned to action last Sunday against Houston and promptly re-injured it.

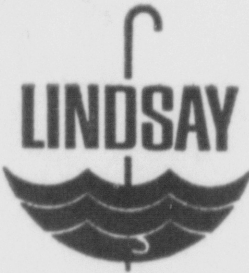

Matte is expected to be out another four to six weeks.

New York's injury-riddled Jets acquired guard Dave Mendenhall from Cincinnati, giving the Bengals an undisclosed draft choice.

Pistons Stop SuperSonics; Win 142-111

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Detroit's runaway Pistons set a record for success while Cincinnati was snapping a string of futility.

The undefeated Pistons, making a shambles of the National Basketball Association's Midwest Division, battered Seattle 142-111 Monday night for their eighth successive victory. That exceeds the seven-win mark set when they were the Fort Wayne, Ind., Pistons in 1956 and equalled in Detroit in 1961.

In the only other NBA game, the Cincinnati Royals won their first game of the season after five setbacks, walloping Atlanta 128-107.

In the lone American Basketball Association game, the Virginia Squires remained unbeaten and in solid command in the East Division, belting the Memphis Pros 120-103.

The Pistons pulled three games ahead of idle Milwaukee in the NBA Midwest Division and dropped the SuperSonics, now 3-3, into a three-way tie with San Francisco and Los Angeles for supremacy in the Pacific Division.

With Dave Bing leading Detroit's attack with 35 points, the Pistons ran roughshod over Seattle, opened a 15-point bulge after one quarter and expanding the lead to 75-48 at the half.

Despite cooling off in the second half, they ended up with a brilliant 63.9 shooting percentage from the floor. Don Smith topped the Sonic scorers with 19.

Johnny Green was Cincinnati's big gun with 30 points, 15 in the fourth period. The Royals were never headed after sapping a 40-40 tie early in the second quarter. Lou Hudson paced Atlanta with 28.

Virginia cruised to its sixth victory—and consigned Memphis to its third defeat in four games—on the strength of George Carter's 26 points and 24 by Charlie Scott. Jimmy Jones, who tied Wendell Ladner for Memphis scoring honors with 18, became the seventh ABA player to pass the 5,000 point career mark.

New Draft Principle Outlined

WASHINGTON (AP) —Draft Director Curtis W. Tarr has offered a possible way to duck military service for some lucky ticket holders from the nation's first draft lottery.

He established a policy Monday that permits men who drew numbers over 195 in the December 1969 lottery to drop their student, occupational, fatherhood or hardship deferments and declare themselves 1A before the year ends.

Exposure to the draft for any part of the year counts for the entire year, Tarr said, and the candidates are then moved to a less vulnerable category in 1971.

Tarr said number 195 "has been projected as the highest number which any local board can reach" in 1970 and higher numbers appear safe as the Vietnam war de-escalates.

The procedure also would be "helpful in gaining an accurate picture of the nation's manpower situation," he said.

The dodge won't help ticket holders from the second draft lottery last July, however. They will be in the first-priority group facing the draft next year and shifting to the 1A category would merely expose them all year. But they could wait until late in 1971, determine their number's probable safety and then voluntarily join the 1A manpower pool.

The policy statement also asks local draft boards to give prompt consideration to requests to drop deferments and be reclassified as draft-eligible.

Tarr warned deferred men that they must give proof in advance to their local draft boards if they want their student, occupational, agricultural, fatherhood or hardship deferments renewed.

LE Levy Is For Salary Increases

The Logan Elm Board of Education is providing the people in the Logan Elm School District the opportunity to decide if the employees (certificated and non-certificated) are to be paid a salary equal to surrounding school district employees.

A two mill operating levy will appear on the ballot during the regular election to be held November 3, 1970.

The main purpose of this levy is to provide money for salary increases to all employees, bus driver, cooks, custodians, secretaries and teachers. Tentative plans call for increases to range from $200 to $400 per employee according to job classification.

At present, Logan Elm School District beginning salaries are the lowest in Pickaway County. A comparative beginning pay scale study which included 25 school districts within 35 miles, shows beginning teachers receive from $900 to $1350 more than Logan Elm pay rates.

The two mills the board of education is seeking will set the operating rate at approximately 20 mills, which is still six mills below the state average operating millage. By way of comparison with surrounding school districts Logan Elm's operating rate will be from 4 to 9 mills lower than most other districts. Fortunately, only two mills is needed to provide an increase to all the district's 114 employees.

The Logan Elm Board of Education faces the task of providing voters with pertinent information concerning the operating levy. However, public funds may not be used to publicize, promote or seek voter approval. All interested voters seeking additional information are invited to attend the next regular board meeting Monday, November 2.

Federal Product Test Date Release Proves Big Flop

WASHINGTON (AP) — For years the pulses of consumer organizations have quickened at the prospect of getting a peek at what the government—the nation's biggest purchaser—knows about brand-name products.

Now, after a 12-month survey, the government has found it has test and experience data readily available on only three items: hearing aids, surgical soap and tree-marking paint.

Officials made that disclosure Monday after President Nixon formally committed the government to releasing some of the information it gets as it buys billions of dollars worth of goods each year.

The President instructed officials to sift through and release more data—but there remained a question of just how much useful consumer information will result.

In the study that preceded Nixon's executive order, government agencies estimated to presidential consumer assistant Virginia Knauer that only one-tenth of 1 per cent of what the government buys is tested brand-name products.

"I was startled. And those on my staff were startled at how little tested brand names the government used," said Mrs. Knauer at a news conference Monday.

The hearing aid information actually already is public. It was released after Consumers Union filed suit to force the data out of the Veterans Administration.

And the other items—soap used by surgeons and paint used to mark trees along hiking trails—aren't exactly big consumer items.

However, in responses to Mrs. Knauer's queries, the Commerce Department and Veterans Administration have listed products for which it has test or experience data, although not necessarily by brand name.

The products are water faucet washers, asphalt roofing, vinyl and asphalt tiles, interior and exterior paint, home siding, insulation, sealants and caulking materials, eye glasses, hospital beds, clinical thermometers, dry milk cream substitutes and elastic bandages.

The General Services Administration, the government agency which does the most purchasing, originally said it could identify no products for which it could provide information from its own testing or experience. But officials in Mrs. Knauer's office say the agency subsequently said it had data on 900 items.

What sort of information on any of these items is available is not known, Mrs. Knauer stressed.

It is now the GSA's job—with Mrs. Knauer's advice—to translate the data into a form useful to consumers.

Exactly how this will be done is not yet clear.

Chalmers Wylie Speaker At Monday Kiwanis Meeting

KIWANIAN GREET'S CONGRESSMAN — Jim Shea (left) Circleville Kiwanis Club president, greets Congressman Chalmers Wylie, featured speaker at the local civic club meeting Monday night. Club members heard the incumbent GOP candidate's views on crime and violence, inflation and environmental pollution and learned of legislation enacted in an effort to combat or control these areas of concern.

Current topics of concern to all citizens, inflation, crime and violence and environmental pollution were discussed by Congressman Chalmers P. Wylie, guest speaker of Circleville Kiwanis Club Monday night.

Wylie, GOP candidate for reelection as representative of the 15th district, told Kiwanis members inflation must be controlled by "gradually lowering government spending below income."

In an attempt to abate crime and violence, he last year introduced a bill preventing students convicted of rioting from obtaining government aid.

Wylie also informed Kiwanians that a bill recently passed by Congress against terror bombing is the first time in our history that legislation of this nature has been necessary.

His interest in environmental pollution control was noted through his introduction of a bill, passed in Ohio, giving tax relief to industries participating in pollution control projects.

During a question period following his speech, Wylie stated federal control of firearms did not receive his support, thinks pornographic material in the mails has contributed greatly to the lowering of our young people's moral standards and does not support government subsidy of tobacco.

Bomb Blasts Rock Jewish Synagogues

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP) — Bomb blasts rocked two Jewish synagogues early today, 15 days after similar explosions damaged two storefront churches, several public buildings and a private home.

No one was hurt in the synagogue blasts.

Police Commissioner John Masterella said the incidents appeared to be part of a "coordinated attack," but that no motive had been established.

At the Light of Israel Sephardic Center, Rabbi Solomon Cohen said repairs might cost $10,000 to $50,000.

At the Temple Beth Shalom damage was limited to a small rear section.

Windows in buildings near the two temples were shattered by the concussion.

Rabbi Cohen said most of the damage to the Sephardic Center was in one corner where a hole was blown through the wall.

Residents in the area of the center told police they heard screeching tires as an automobile apparently sped away from the scene shortly after the explosion.

The main post office and federal office building and a county office building were among the targets in the Oct. 12 bombings. The two churches had Negro congregations.

Police said that as in the case of the previous attacks no warnings were given and no notes of explanation were found.

Today's bombings were about six miles apart.

Three officers of the Laurelville Chapter of the Future Farmers of America attended the 43rd National FFA Convention in Kansas City, Mo. recently.

Making the trip with their advisor and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Body were: Mike Thomas, Richard Huffman and Walter Branson.

A tour of the Ralston Purina Research Farm in St. Louis was the highlight of the trip. Of special interest to the group was the research on feeds for poultry, dairy, swine, sheep, beef and wildlife areas. Experiments are underway in all these categories on Purina's 820 acre farm.

Theme for the convention this year was "Involved in America's Future." Separate sessions were devoted to FFA business and the National Public Speaking Contest, introduction of vocational youth leaders and proficiency awards in Agribusiness, Agricultural Mechanics, Crop Farming, Dairy Farming, Farm and Home Electrification, Forestry, Home Improvement, Livestock Farming, and Soil and Water Management.

The three were among some 15,000 Future Farmers in attendance at the convention greeted by Art Linkletter during Thursday evening activities.
